What Do We Know?

What ~~do~~ did we know?

Historical Truths

- Peak season in our market is _____.
- Occupancy and ADR during that time are likely to be ____ and ____, respectively.
- Next year, we'll be able to bump our rate by _____.

How do we know it?

Adapt Data Frameworks To Market Dynamics

Continuously align data sources, delivery mechanisms, and KPIs to current (changed) market conditions to remain relevant and competitive.

02

Finding Opportunity in Uncertainty

The Valley of Disappointment

Atomic Habits, James Clear

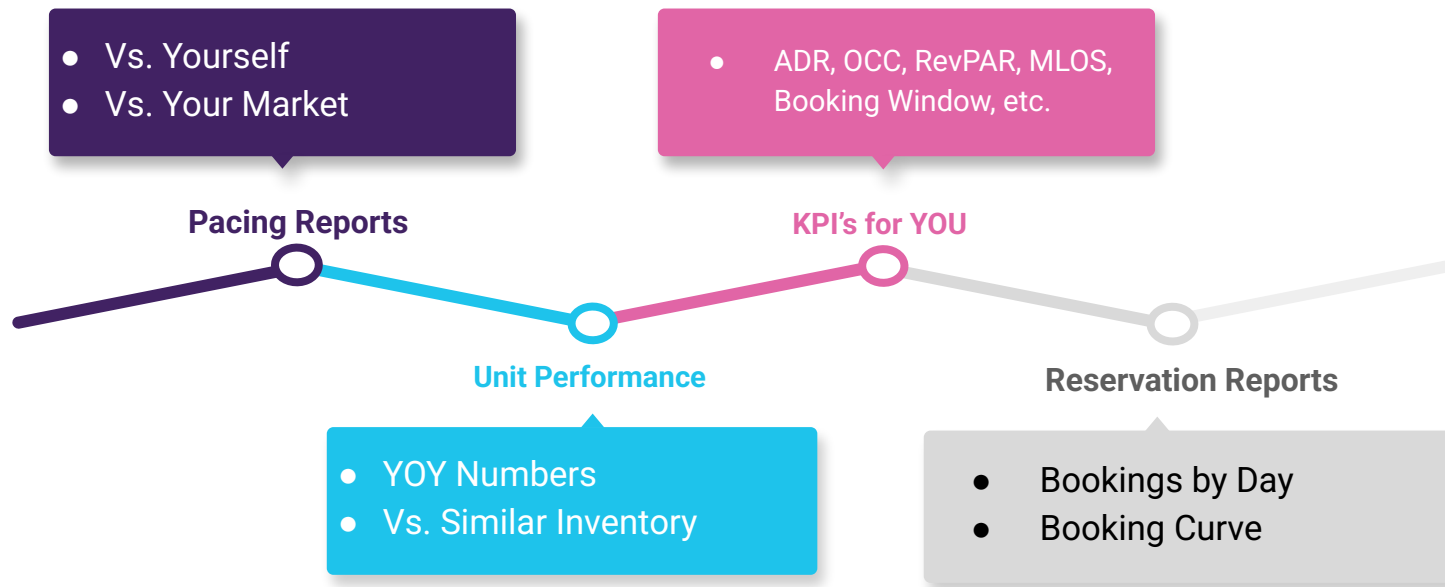

Identify Trends and Progress

Use data to analyze changed conditions and set new benchmarks

Establish New Baselines

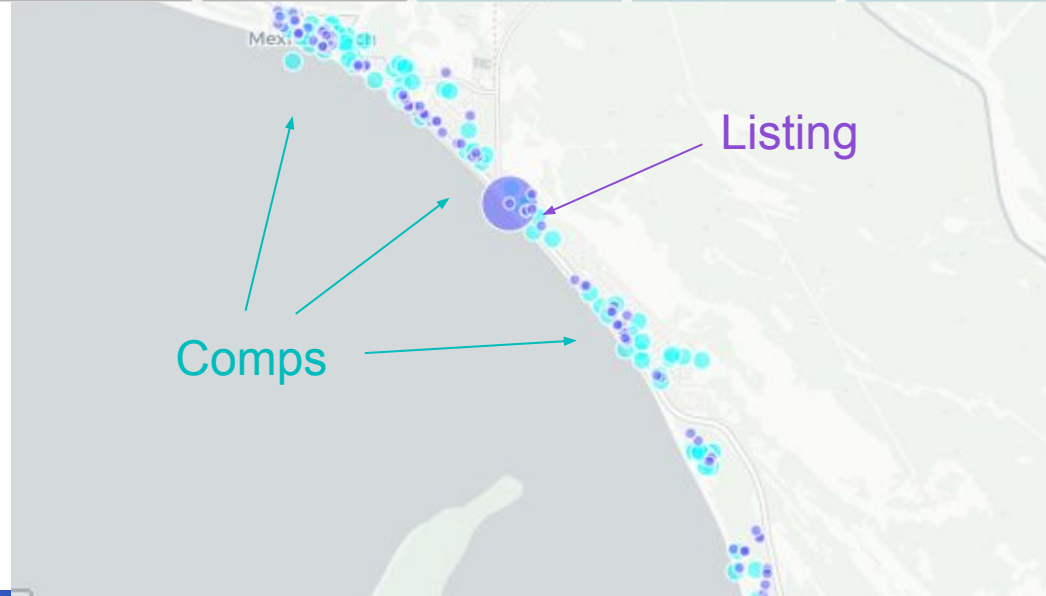

Using Comp Sets as Benchmarks

$236 Art ADR (30 days)	67% Art OCC (30 days)	$158 Art RevPAR (30 days)	$313 Comps ADR (30 days)	50% Compset OCC (30 days)	$156 Compset RevPAR (30 days)	1.33 Market Penetration Index	0.76 Average Rate Index	1.01 Revenue Generation Index
-----------------------------------	---------------------------------	--------------------------------------	-------------------------------------	-------------------------------------	--	---	-----------------------------------	---

$$\text{MPI} = \frac{\text{OCC Listing}}{\text{OCC Comps}}$$

$$\text{ARI} = \frac{\text{ADR Listing}}{\text{ADR Comps}}$$

$$\text{RGI} = \frac{\text{RevPAR Listing}}{\text{RevPAR Comps}}$$

Leverage Data To Harness Unpredictability

Address uncertainty with data to uncover hidden opportunities: correlate trends, set new benchmarks, redefine baselines, and act on data-driven insights.

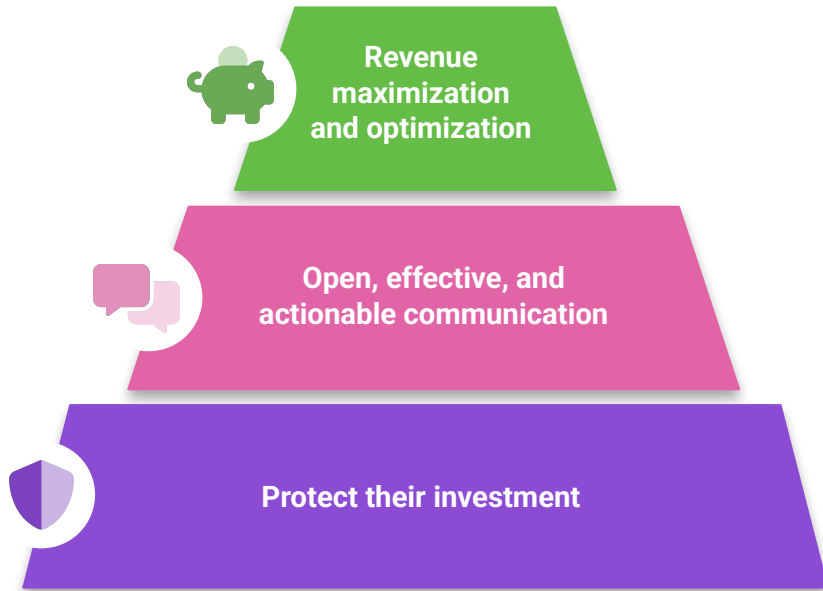

03

Communication and Education

Understanding Owners' Needs

Offer comprehensive data tools to manage owner expectations

Self Actualization - Revenue and profit maximization/optimization and ROI

Self-Esteem - Proactive retention by VRMs

Social - Communication - open, effective, actionable

Safety - insights, data, market knowledge, benchmarking

Physical - the property

Data's Role In Delighting Owners

- Owner management is more critical than ever as expectations have changed
- Market headwinds impacting owners:
 - Economic challenges
 - Changes in market dynamics
 - Competitive pressure
 - Higher expectations
- Collaborative owner management protects and grows the supply side of your business
- Citing data to explain performance is key when communicating with those most resistant to change

Meet Changing Owner Expectations

Heather Crandall, Property Manager at Moose Management Vacation Rentals

- "...that house in Park City, UT used to rent for $600, now it goes for $450."
- "Our owners...are demanding to know why."
- "We are using all of the tools at our disposal [to tell our owners] what's going on in the market."

—Track & IHM/STRz podcast - October 2024

Be Brilliant in the Basics

Share data and insights

- Make data available on demand
- Centralize relevant data to aid decision making
- Empower users to see and understand data, and its context, quickly
- Offer interactive data dashboards so owners can access different types of property and financial data on-demand
- Provide insights - explain the what and why

Democratize Your Data

Foster an organization-wide culture where data is accessible, collaboratively interpreted, and applied across functions to align efforts and achieve shared business goals.

06

Acknowledge The Human Factor

Eliminating Friction

- Understand tomorrow's wants of guests, employees, owners
- Optimize processes
- Harness the power of technology
- Centralize and democratize visibility, insight, and control
- Prevent decision lag
- Avoid cost-prohibitive growth

Retain and Upskill Talent

- Consolidate and/or optimize tools and systems to be more efficient for users
- Focus on innovation: consider new applications of existing tech stack
- Leverage data sources in decision making processes
- Make necessary process updates and automate where possible

Customer Intimacy

Activating fans vs. appeasing detractors

- Your friend will take a fry even after saying they didn't want any
- Ordering tap water but filling your cup with soda is an act of living on the edge
- Who doesn't eat cheese off the wrapper?
- Ordering a Big Mac, Filet-O-Fish, and a McChicken is called a Land, Air, and Sea burger
